ATEA's ECR/HDR Network

Newsletter

No. 15 March 2016

Conference update issue

Hi everyone,

This issue of the newsletter is dedicated to a conference update to let you know of arrangements for the conference in July and of some important deadlines. Notifications have been sent out to those who sent in proposals for the different forms of conference presentations and so I know that many of you will now be beginning to plan your trip. Hopefully some of the information in this newsletter will help you and I hope to see you at the conference. In particular, I hope to meet and talk with many of you at the ECR/ HDR Pre-conference day on Sun 3 July.

Editorial Intern Opportunity

Each semester APJTE invites expressions of interest from ECRs who are ATEA members to be editorial interns on the journal. Editorial interns attend fortnightly meetings (by teleconference) and help make decisions about sending papers to review and providing feedback to authors. Being an editorial intern is an opportunity to learn about the 'backstage' workings of a journal and how papers move from being submitted for consideration by authors to eventual publication. If you are interested in submitting an EOI for an editorial intern position please check recent editions of APJTE for details. There is currently a vacancy for one editorial intern for Semester 2, 2016. For more information about the role please email Joce Nuttall at joce.nuttall@acu.edu.au

ATEA's Mission

To promote:

- the pre service and continuing education of teachers in all forms and contexts;
- teacher education as central in the education enterprise of the nation;
- research on teacher education as a core endeavor.

Conference Update

The 2016 ATEA Conference will be hosted by the School of Education, Federation University Australia (Ballarat, July 3-6, 2016).

Conference Theme: Teacher Education: Innovation, Interventions and Impact

Teacher Education is more than at any other time in our history, in a key public position in the Australian context. With this intense gaze comes new questions and questioning of our work, our research and our practices. This is an excellent time for the Australian Teacher Education Association to capitalise on the attention by politicians and policy makers seeking solutions to the best ways we can prepare teachers for diverse communities.

Keynote Speakers

Professor John Loughran

John Loughran is the Foundation Chair in Curriculum & Pedagogy and Dean of the Faculty of Education, Monash University. John was a science teacher for ten years before moving into teacher education. John believes that teaching needs to be more highly valued as a profession and his research and writing illustrates how that might be possible. John has published approximately 200 refereed journal articles and 30 books and recently co-edited with Mary Lynn Hamilton The International Handbook of Teacher Education (Springer, 2016). He was the co-founding editor of Studying Teacher Education and is an Executive Editor for Teachers and Teaching: Theory and Practice and is on the International Editorial Advisory Board for a number of journals including Teacher Education Quarterly and the Journal of Reflective Practice.

Professor Jenny Gore

Jenny Gore is a Professor in the School of Education at the University of Newcastle, Australia, where she was Dean of Education and Head of School for six years. Currently Director of the Teachers and Teaching Research Program and Co-Editor of the international journal, Teaching and Teacher Education, Jenny has won more than $5.1 million in research funding. Her educational and research interests consistently centre on quality and equity, ranging across such topics as teacher socialisation, reform in teacher education, pedagogical reform, and teacher development. Widely published and cited, Jenny's current major research projects include a randomised controlled trial investigating the impact of Quality Teaching Rounds, and a longitudinal study exploring the formation of educational and career aspirations in the middle years of schooling.

ECR/ HDR Pre-conference Schedule

The pre-conference schedule is designed as an opportunity for early career researchers and higher degree by research students to gather together prior to the commencement of the official conference program. Each year we attempt to design a day that provides opportunities for ECRs/ HDRs to network together, while also participating in a range of sessions from experienced teacher educators and researchers. This year the theme of the ECR/ HDR program is 'Developing as a teacher educator and engaging with networks'.

We have put together a number of sessions featuring members of the ATEA executive that are designed to be interactive in nature and which offer ECRs/HDRs the opportunity to think about developing grant, publication and engagement ideas. We are also extremely lucky to have Rosie Le Cornu from University of South Australia running a session on developing resilience as a teacher educator. We will also hear from Dr. Morag Redford and Helen Coker from the University of Highlands and Islands about teacher education in international contexts.

The ECR/ HDR day is $65 which includes all meals for the day. At the end of this day we will have the Welcome reception and the Book launch which are both free to attend. We hope that many of you will join us for a vibrant and interactive day to kick off the ATEA conference for 2016.

Accommodation for the conference

There are many options for accommodation in Ballarat and we have a list of some possible options on the website:

We do recommend booking accommodation early as there is another conference occurring in Ballarat at this time and so demand for accommodation options will be high.

Questions about the conference?

If you have any questions about the conference please contact our conference administrator Briony Cleveland at ATEA2016@federation.edu.au
